THIS MATTER is before the Court on Plaintiff's Consent Motion to Stay the Initial Order
Regarding Planning and Scheduling. [DE ]

It appearing to the Court that since the entry of the Initial Order Regarding Planning and Scheduling ("Initial Order") [DE 25], Plaintiff has filed a motion to remand [DE 28], that the interests of judicial economy would best be served by staying the Initial Order until the Court has ruled upon the motion to remand, and that all the parties consent, the Court finds that there is good cause to stay the Initial Order.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the Initial Order is stayed. The Court will lift the stay after ruling on the pending motion to remand.

SO ORDERED, this the 7th day of July, 2022.
